

Matt Noel-Bentley has been actively volunteering with Calgary Legal Guidance since mid-2017. He had worked with CLG in the past, but recently has substantially increased his time commitment as he completes his required pro bono hours in pursuit of admission to the New York bar.

Matt has worked regularly with the evening clinic, in addition to assisting at other clinics throughout the city and helping out at the ID clinic. He has found the experience extremely rewarding and intends to continue with a consistent commitment after his New York hours have been achieved. He enjoys the opportunity to assist people who require legal assistance, and finds it to be an excellent, unique, enriching opportunity to give back to the community.

Matt has a Juris Doctor degree from the University of Alberta, along with a Bachelor of Science from the University of Calgary and an MBA from Athabasca University. When not volunteering, Matt works as Legal Counsel for Parkland Fuel Corporation, where he handles a variety of corporate/commercial legal matters including mergers and acquisitions, contract drafting and review, and numerous other legal matters that arise. As part of the Parkland team, Matt also volunteers with Pro Bono Law Alberta in PBLA's Civil Claims Duty Counsel Project at the Calgary Courthouse.
